BRIDGE AND ROAD WORK MAKES GOOD PROGRESS—OVERHEAD BRIDGE RAZED

Traffic is passing over the new bridge and road construction with a minimum of confusion. Although the travel of three numbered routes, 2, 5 and 26, is included and a sense of direction is temporarily of little use, most difficulty is experienced by those familiar with the former junction at Church and Railroad Streets.

Most noticeable activity at present is the removal of the old steel bridge over the railroad by the contractor, H. E. Sargent, Inc. This bridge was placed in its present position in 1924 and the same structure or another had been raised from an earlier height about 20 years previously.

Travel at lower Church Street is presently one way but the street will be widened by Saturday. Gravel fill on Railroad Street is now improving conditions between Church and Elm Streets. Granite edging and curbing is now being installed on the new highway.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The 1962 tax rate for the town of Bethel has been set at 36½ mills or $35.50 per thousand dollars of valuation. I think that most people will agree that it is too bad to have a large tax increase at this time. There are two factors that determine the tax rate. One factor is the amount of money that is raised by taxation at the annual town meeting. The second factor is the value of all the real and personal property in town.

The citizens of Bethel voted to raise and appropriate $37,823.00 more in 1962 than was raised and appropriated in 1961. The most of this increase is $36,287.00 in the school maintenance account. The increase in property valuation helped some but a 6½ mill increase was still necessary. When the tax bills are mailed out, these facts should be remembered. When there is a large increase in the amount raised and the valuation of property increases by a small amount, then the tax rate is going to increase by a large amount.

Mrs. Wheeler is typing the commitment book for the town again this year. This is her fourth year in a row and with that much experience she does a very good job.

Michael Houlihan

Mrs. Murry Cummings, Cheryl, Joni, Robbie and Danny, Topsham, are spending two weeks with Mrs. Sadye Robertson.

Rev. and Mrs. John Palmer and sons, David and Robert, are vacationing in Pennsylvania and other states for three weeks.

Mrs. Eugene Brown and sons, Stanley, Terry and Jody, of Massachusetts were guests of relatives and friends in town last week.

Miss Lillian Currier, of Pittsburgh, Pa., left Monday after spending a few days visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Currier.

Mr. and Mrs. James Browne and children of Washington Depot, Conn., have returned after spending two weeks visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Eldred Anderson, Marjorie and David, and Mrs. Miriam Boyker, of Portland, were guests Monday of Mr. and Mrs. Philip H. Faudi, and Stephanie.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stowell and Rachel went Saturday to Portland, where he has employment with the IBM Company. Their address is 314 Preble Street, South Portland.

Mrs. Harry Hutchinson and Mrs. Virgie McMillin are patients for eye surgery at the St. Louis Hospital at Berlin. Mrs. Hutchinson's operation was performed Tuesday and Mrs. McMillin's today.

Excavation has been made for the new home of Kenneth Buck and family on the lot adjoining the home of Irving Cummings on the Locke Mills road. The Bucks will move here from North Woodstock.

Full Day's Activities Promised For Mollyockett Day Saturday

Final arrangements for the annual Mollyockett Day in Bethel were announced today by Roger Luce, general chairman of the year's program. August 4 (Saturday) has been designated at the 1962 Mollyockett Day.

All proceeds from this popular community project will go toward furthering the work of the Bethel Health and Service Council.

Activities are scheduled to get underway with field events being held at 9:00 a. m. for all children in the area who are twelve years of age or under and who wish to compete or participate. Mrs. Lippitt of the National Training Laboratory and her excellent staff of leaders will conduct the games and events. All children wishing to participate should be present at the fire station by 8:45 a. m.

Parade at 11:00 a. m. Guests of the Bethel Inn will again be judges of the parade and presentation of awards will be made in front of the Inn.

Trophies will be presented to winners of each of the several categories, floats, bikes, and carriages and walkers in costume. If you plan a float or special entry and have not already contacted the Parade Committee, please do so immediately, as numbers are assigned to eliminate confusion and expedite arrangements of the parade line. Please call Charles Farrar or Sonny Saunders during day at VA 4-2740 and at night VA 4-2030.

All persons, either in groups or as individuals who desire to march on foot in the parade are requested to assemble in the area between Stan Davis Building Supply Co. and Martha's Restaurant not later than 10:45 a. m. on Saturday. This group includes doll carriages, bicycles, etc.

By 10:30 a. m. all booths should be open for the day. (Don't forget, food booths open then also, so plan to have lunch on the common while you enjoy the parade.)

Throughout the day, there will be booths providing home cooked food, candy, hot dogs, sandwiches, cold drinks, coffee and doughnuts, games, fancy articles, pop corn, a car wash, and the Papoose Reservation, including pony rides for the children.

Art Exhibit
A repeat of last year's highly successful art exhibit will be open to everyone from 1 to 5 in the Chapman Barn at the end of Main Street.

In The BETHEL AREA It is the

Bethel Inn

Auction at 1:30 p. m.

At 1:30 p. m. an auction will be held at the Community Building with professional auctioneer Stuart Martin in charge. This project is being sponsored by a special committee of the Health Council which has already collected some items for auction but need many more. Further donations for the auction will be greatly appreciated by the committee members. Call Roger Luce at VA 4-2552 or Randal Stevens at VA 4-2491 for pick up of items. Call today.

Pet Show at 2:30 p. m. All kinds of pets may be entered in the Mollyockett Day pet show under the direction of Mrs. Mary Schein of the N. T. L. Bethel Inn guests will be judges with first and second place ribbons being awarded for best cat, best dog, best other pet, most unusual pet, and for best trick. The entry fee will be 10 cents and be registered by 2:00 at the Kiddie Corner near the Inn.

Fishing Derby at 3:30 p. m. The Mount Abram Fish and Game Association have been successful in obtaining a supply of trout for the pool in the common to provide a fishing derby for all youngsters who are 12 years of age or under. Fish will arrive Saturday morning.

Beano will be in full swing both afternoon and evening sponsored by the Bethel American Legion Post.

A delicious home cooked baked bean supper will be served on the common from 5:30 to 7:00, followed by a band concert directed by Jim Owens.

To round out a full day, there will be dancing at the outdoor parking area of Gould Academy sponsored by the Bethel Jaycee Teen Council.

The Health Council and its committee are most hopeful that this year's Mollyockett Day will be as successful last year, when over $950 was realized. Won't you take part and thereby become a part of the good things that happen in your area? Come to Mollyockett Day—ALL day—and bring the whole family. Everyone will enjoy it.

TEMPORARY EXTENDED COMPENSATION $2,095,971.48 IN MAINE

Maine jobless received a total of $2,095,971.48 in unemployment insurance benefits under the Federal Temporary Extended Unemployment Compensation Act, the Employment Security Commission reports.

Under provisions of the act the TEC program became effective in April 1961. It terminated June 30, 1962. The act permitted payment of an additional 13 weeks of unemployment insurance to persons who had either exhausted 26 weeks of benefits allowed under the State program or whose benefit year expired after June 30, 1960, and who still were unemployed.

Benefits under the TEC Act were paid from federal funds provided through an increase in the federal unemployment tax rate on all covered employers. During the 15 months in which the act was in effect, a total of 108,525 extended benefit checks were issued to 10,711 eligible persons in Maine. Average amount of these checks was $19.31.

SUMMER HILLSIDES

It is good to walk a hillside when the time of ripeness is on the land and the countryside is brooding in eighth month lassitude. Twice in that cycle man labels year, life forces seem to pause and consolidate their strength for the oncoming season. In February and again to August, Nature slows its onward march. We know that behind and beneath the waiting period, innumerable life forces are pressing forward. Myriad forces of small insects are completing their cycle; golden grains of pollen are falling to waiting corn silks; wild grapes are swelling and acares are filling their cups.

On a sun-drenched day, it is Nature's healing therapy when one feels summer warmth, inhales the fragrance of sun-cured grasses, and watches white clouds wander slowly across a pale blue sky.

Thistles have opened their purple blossoms and hardhack spires are pink-purple above light green leaves. Clumps of staghorn sumac are filled with stubby wine-red candles and goldenrod lifts stiff lances and golden blossoms.

In the valley below, a pewter ribbon of water runs slowly on its way to a distant sea. Embos in the creek bottoms stand like tall vases with green bouquets. In the woodland above, young crows try nasal voices, and from the rail fence a song sparrow tosses its three-note introduction and musical aria into hot, breezeless air.

A summer hillside is a place where a man feels the verities—a place removed from the scotchings and tension of the marketplace. If the world is pressing and the heart is drained, find a sunny summer hillside and clear perspective may return to a vista that was clouded.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR...

Locke Mills, Maine
July 30, 1962

Bethel Citizen

To the Editor:

In response to the bitter anti-union letter addressed to this column last week, we would like to point out some of the advantages of being a member of organized labor, and expose some of the distortions contained in that letter.

In regard to outsiders being in this area, we do not believe that friends of the working man from our neighboring states should be considered as outsiders. These men have an excellent record of securing better working conditions for the laborer through union organization. They are here to help the employee and should not be mislabeled as being outsiders.

Concerning union dues, we are certain any worthwhile organization of this type has an obligation to collect dues in order to function properly for the best interests of their members. Our union dues are three dollars per month or less than two cents per hour. For this small amount we receive the following benefits:

1. Job protection through seniority.
2. The right to collectively bargain.
3. A grievance procedure to protect against unfair practices.

4. Medical insurance.
5. Life insurance.
6. Seven paid holidays per year.

7. One to three weeks paid vacation (depending upon length of service with the company.)

8. Pay increases (within the capability of the company).

In addition to these benefits, many other improvements have been achieved through negotiations.

As active members of organized labor, we would like to have it clearly understood that we have no intention of pressing impossible demands upon our employers. On the contrary, we wish them continued

To the Editor:

In last week's Citizen I noticed a letter criticizing unions and the people organizing them in a couple of local wood-turning shops. I feel the letter writer is very badly informed. We who have taken the time to attend union meetings and ask questions know that the union will certainly help us. Many wood-workers here are earning so little money they have a very difficult time making ends meet. We know that the union would not make demands that our employers cannot meet, but we all need more money. Most of us are going to vote for the union regardless of what the Chamber of Commerce or any other group feels. They don't have to work the way we do for the small amount of money we are paid!

success so that additional jobs will be available to our people and the local economy will grow and prosper.

Our main concern is that we receive a fair return for our productive efforts, work under adequate safety protection, and secure unbiased job protection.

The so called unfair labor laws were instituted by the federal government to protect the employee from being unduly coerced by the employer to vote against his or her will.

Local merchants should welcome the labor movement. When the workman is justly rewarded for his endeavors, he will in turn increase his expenditures within the local economy.

For years the workers of this area have dutifully served the masters of industry without having the protection and benefits afforded by union organization.

Our membership was faced with a similar situation several months ago and voted with a plurality of over 95% to affiliate with The United Furniture Workers of America. This vote clearly indicates our support of the labor movement.

We sincerely hope that other workers in this area will join

HEARING ON PROPOSED RT. 5 RECONSTRUCTION TO BE HELD IN LOVELL CEN.

A public hearing will be held by the State Highway Commission in the Town Hall at Lovell Center on Monday, August 6, at 7:30 p. m., regarding the reconstruction and possible relocation of a section of Route 5 in Lovell.

The portion of Route 5 to be discussed at the hearing begins at the end of the section of highway just completed (a point about a mile and a half north of the Center Lovell Post Office) and extends northerly approximately three miles. The present narrow road requires excessive maintenance and has short sight distances around several curves and over the brow of hills. The proposed highway would have a 20-foot bituminous gravel pavement and 4-foot gravel shoulders.

During the hearing, engineers from the State Highway Commission will explain from maps and charts the details of the proposed project. The public will have an opportunity to ask questions and make statements.

COUNTY DEMOCRATS HOLD MEETING AT WEST PERU

Forty-one Democrats from Oxford, Bryant Pond, South Paris, Norway, West Paris, Locke Mills, Rumford, and Mexico attended a meeting of the Oxford County Democratic Committee which was held at the West Peru School Auditorium on Wednesday, July 25th.

Principal speaker, Maine Democratic Chairman Owen D. Hancock, Casco, addressed the group. Hancock vigorously criticized a recent news column by Republican Chairman David Nichols. Hancock said, "Nichols' refusal to discuss state level political issues hurts Maine and insults the intelligence of the voters."

"This will be the most important Maine election in modern times. In November the voters will have to choose between a party which believes that Maine's problems will be solved by forgetting them and a party which believes that these problems can be solved by intelligence and hard work."

County Commissioner Eli A. Gadet, D-Rumford, also addressed the group.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the West Peru Democratic Committee.

violations when they honestly believed that the particular provision of law they broke was either very minor or "silly."

Let us say that one man commits a stop-sign violation while driving at a speed of only 2 miles per hour. He tells the magistrate in court that the violation was perfect, that there was no traffic on the other street, and that it was perfectly safe to proceed. He claims that it was "ridiculous" for the policeman to give him a summons. Now, the next man to be brought in on the same charge was driving at only 4 miles per hour. He says visibility was "practically perfect." He, too, claims that the police action was "ridiculous." Then comes a man who was driving at only 6 miles per hour, then one at 8. Are all these men right? If so, at just what point, at what speed, and at what condition of visibility should each policeman enforce the law? The man who was driving at only 1 or 2 miles per hour faster than that speed would still claim his arrest "ridiculous."

There is only one way to enforce the law fairly, and that is according to the way it is written. That is the policeman's duty. Varying degrees of seriousness of violations are provided for in the law, and the judge can give a penalty from minimum to maximum limits or even a suspended sentence, according to the circumstances. That is his duty.

It may be, in certain places, that a YIELD right of way sign would be more appropriate than a STOP sign. Persons holding that belief should request a traffic engineering and safety study and get the sign changed, if warranted. In the meantime, they should obey the legally posted regulations. Traffic laws as written represent the decisions of the legislative representatives of the people. The only way they can be enforced in fairness to all, and for the protection of all, is in just the way they are written.

U. S. GOVT. PURCHASED $2.8 MILLION IN ME. GOODS DURING SECOND QUARTER
U. S. Government purchases of goods and services from Maine firms during the second quarter of 1962 totalled $2,808,484, the Department of Economic Development announced. Total for the first half of the year was $48,850,184.90.

The Bath Iron Workers received by far the largest Government contract so far this year, $39,750,000 for construction of a guided missile frigate, awarded in January. Twenty-nine contracts were awarded Maine firms in the first quarter, 25 in the second.

Largest contract recorded in the second quarter was $494,316, to Hyde Windlass Co. of Bath, a BIW subsidiary, for ships' gear. The Prosperity Division of Ward Industries, South Portland, received two sub-contracts totalling $404,887 for hatch covers and for Polaris submarine hull components.

Other contracts during the second quarter ranged from $12,180 to $359,400 each, for a variety of goods and services. The total of Government contracts awarded Maine firms since 1959, when DED records began, and through July 16, 1962 is $168,335,714.90. The DED notifies Maine firms in advance of opportunities to bid on Government procurements.

Were visiting Bethel during the Mollycoddett Day celebration last year. This poem won a prize for the eleven year old from the Maine Poetry Day Association.

Mollycoddett was an Indian Medicine Lady

Who was known for curing a famous sick baby.

"Twas a cold wintry night night many many years ago, Each house were she'd ask for lodging the answer was "No." She soon came to a house where a woman said she could stay. She saw in a corner a sick baby lay.

With knowledge of herbs and faith in her prayers, She went about her work as one who cares.

With blood warming potions and disease killing medicine, The baby in a short time was feeling well again.

Mollycoddett said the baby would be famous when he grew up, And sure enough it happened that way.

Most everyone knows right up to this day, The baby, Hannibal Hamlin became Vice President down Washington way.

SAM SNEAD TO PLAY AT PORTLAND C. C. SATURDAY

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, once more our fraternal circle has been broken, death has taken from us Brother Joel Merrill who was a generous contributor of his time to Bear River Grange, No. 285.

Be it resolved that Bear River Grange extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family, that a copy of these resolutions be spread on our records, one sent to the Oxford County Citizen for publication and one sent to the bereaved family. His work of life has ended, and he's reached the Grange above.

Comm. on Resolutions

Who Was Mollycoddett

On the eve of Bethel's annual Mollycoddett Day, the question is frequently asked, "Who was Mollycoddett?"

Mollycoddett was one of the first settlers in the town of Bethel. A daughter of a tribal chief, she was a member of the Rockemeko tribe, but following a visit to Canada she became identified as a St. Francis Indian.

She settled on the north side of the river near Curatio Bartlett's farm, and lived with her daughter, Molly Susup.

A very devout woman, she sympathized with the Methodists and eventually became a convert although she never gave up occasional visits to Canada to make her confessions to a priest.

At one time she saved the life of a Boston fur tracker,

Colonel Clark. To show his gratitude he built her a wigwam on the Falls of the Pennacook and there supported her the rest of her life.

The Bethel Health and Service Council believes that this day, "Mollycoddett Day" is very fitting, since Mollycoddett is best remembered as the first "healer" in the area. Although she carried no remedies, she utilized herbs and roots in making syrups, salves and medicines. She also was in great demand as a mid-wife and was in attendance when the first white child was born in Andover, Maine.

In addition to Bethel's annual "Mollycoddett Day," her name is perpetuated by Moll's Rock at the outlet of Umbagog Lake and by Molly Ockett Mountain in Woodstock. Her name has been spelled many ways: Mollycoddett, Mollockett, Molly Ockett, Mollycoddett, Mollockett, and Mollockett. Mollycoddett is buried in nearby Andover.

As a side light to the brief history of Mollycoddett, we would like to include a poem written by the eleven year old daughter of Mrs. Frederick P. O'Connell of Augusta, who

OXFORD & ANDROSCOGGIN SOIL CON. DIST. HOLD JOINT WATERSHED MEET

The supervisors of the Oxford County and Androscoggin County Soil Conservation Districts held a joint meeting on July 24 at the district office in South Paris to discuss mutual interests in a possible watershed project on the Nezinscot River. The Nezinscot drains the townships of Sumner, Hartford, Buckfield and Turner.

The basis of interest is founded on the Act of Congress called the Small Watershed Flood Prevention Act. This Act is designed to prevent flooding and develop the total resources of watersheds under 250,000 acres. The Nezinscot, also called "Twenty Mile River" drains some 130,000 acres. The towns of West Sumner, Sumner, East Sumner, Hartford, Buckfield, North Buckfield, Turner and Turner Center are affected by the Nezinscot.

Small watershed projects can be sponsored by local groups such as soil conservation districts and towns. The cost of the flood prevention part is borne by federal funds, under the Watershed Act. The other features of a watershed are fish and wildlife development, town water supplies, recreational development, pollution control and agricultural water management which can mean drainage and irrigation. Half the cost of fish habitat is paid from federal funds.

W. Henry Allen, Chairman of the Oxford District, welcomed the visitors and introduced Lewis E. Parlin, Assistant State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service of Orono. Mr. Parlin is the leader of watershed projects in Maine. Parlin explained the Small Watershed Flood Prevention program and answered questions from the group. Future meetings are planned at which time selectmen from the various towns will be invited to have a watershed program explained and to determine local interest in developing a watershed project on the Nezinscot River.

Benjamin Kellogg, Fort Dix, N. J., spent the week end at his home.
